Once upon a time, in a small village, there lived a kind old man named George.

One day, he said to his friend, "I have a feeling that something exciting is about to happen."

His friend replied, "Don't be silly, George. Our lives are always the same."

But George was right. That evening, a stranger arrived in the village.

"Hello," the stranger said, "I am looking for someone named George."

George was surprised. "Who are you?" he asked.

"My name is Samuel," the stranger said, "and I have a message for you from the king."

The entire village gathered around to listen.

"George," Samuel continued, "the king has chosen you to be his advisor!"

The villagers cheered, and George couldn't believe his ears.

"Me? But why?" he asked.

"The king has heard of your wisdom and kindness," Samuel explained.

"And he needs someone like you to guide him."

From that day forward, George's life changed forever. He moved to the royal palace and helped the king make many important decisions.

But he never forgot the little village where he came from.

"The village will always be my home," he told the king. "And I will always do my best to serve both the village and the kingdom."
